Key Highlights:

Laxmisagara Horticultural Farmer Producer Company (FPO) has become a key player in mango trading by providing farmers with timely inputs and reducing dependence on middlemen. The FPO has developed mango collection centres and a streamlined system for grading, weighing, and dispatching harvested mangoes to processing companies and other states. This approach benefits farmers through timely payments, lower commissions, and reduced transportation costs, while buyers receive high-quality produce and accurate orders.

With support from S. M. Sehgal Foundation, the FPO has distributed growth promoters, fungicides, insecticides, and micronutrients, along with conducting regular training on pruning, rejuvenation, pest management, and post-harvest practices. These interventions have helped farmers improve mango quality and achieve a 25% increase in yield.

Expanding beyond raw mango trading, Laxmisagara FPO launched its branded mango line, "SWASTHIK," and introduced Corrugated Fibreboard (CFB) packaging for ripe mangoes. During the recent mango season, the FPO displayed 2,000 CFB boxes at the Mango Mela in Bengaluru. This, along with efficient trading operations, helped the FPO achieve 673 MT of mangoes traded, generating Rs. 1.65 crore in transactions within just two months, reflecting its commitment to farmer empowerment and sustainable business growth.

Financials:

Laxmisagara FPO has emerged as a dynamic player in mango trading, recording significant growth over the past two years. In 2023, the FPO achieved transactions worth Rs. 46 lakh with a net profit of Rs. 1.42 lakh, which surged to Rs. 1.65 crore in 2024, yielding a net profit of Rs. 3.5 lakh. During the recent mango season, the FPO traded 673,688 kg of mangoes across multiple varieties, including Rajgira (28,229 kg, Rs. 7.01 lakh), Alphonso (12,571 kg, Rs. 6.02 lakh), Tota puri (5,85,519 kg, Rs. 1.26 crore), Neelum (22,045 kg, Rs. 2.78 lakh), and other regional varieties such as Benisa, Dasherri, Mallika, Kalapad, Malagoa, and Nati (25,324 kg, Rs. 22.65 lakh). This impressive performance reflects the FPO's strengthened market linkages, efficient collection and grading systems, and its focus on delivering high-quality produce to buyers.
